How do you learn a second language? I believe the most efficient way is to find an element that captures your interest. That could be a movie, book or a song in the language you desire to learn. A good start could be translating whatever grabs your attention and write down the words and actually see what you are learning. Also, you could watch a movie in that language so you can begin to associate the words. However, be wary, studies suggest that even though subtitles are a great method of learning "you may have the urge to lean on them for everyday use."

After doing so you can begin to watch the movie without subtitles and see which words you recognize on your own. Alternating between both methods can help you reinforce the areas you need. Immerse yourself completely in the language, you need to dedicate more than just two hours a day, consistency is key. In today's modern society most of us own a cellphone yet another tool that has most people's interests and it's part of our daily life. See that as another asset to elaborate your comprehension of the language.

You can download apps such as "Duo Lingo" this way you have a fun alternative of learning with an app that sets goals for each day. You could also download a dictionary (or buy one whichever you prefer) or use a translator on the phone to search for words you do not know. Nonetheless be mindful of the what you are using and verify that they are accurate. Another key element is to use social media to find and meet other people that speak the language through chats or "Facebook groups". Some people enjoy visiting places in the weekend you can try going to tourist attractions and talk to them to gain confidence when speaking the language.

An article on "Skift" about travel tells us that "Results show that millennials (ages 24 to

How was Puerto Rico's development affected throughout time?

The first elements you must take into consideration is the island's history and geography. Since you cannot comment on the actual situation if you don't reflect about the past. In the following paragraphs I will be talking about Puerto Rico's location, it's seismic activity and our U.S citizenship. The purpose of understanding these factors will be to realize the detrimental effects they have caused in Puerto Rico.

According to an article by "Live Science", "Puerto Rico is an archipelago in the Caribbean Sea consisting of a main island and a handful of smaller ones. It is part of the Greater Antilles, a grouping of the larger islands in the Caribbean and it has made Puerto Rico an important and strategic port for centuries". Sadly, based on other research I have done it made the island a target for hurricanes as well. We all remember the devastating category 4 hurricane Maria, which struck on September 20th, 2017. This hurricane caused catastrophic damage throughout the whole island leaving its infrastructure totaled. The entire population suffered from power outages and lack of water. Many houses destroyed and one year later there were still houses with blue awnings for ceilings. The hurricane caused a major downfall in economy due to the destruction of projects meant to stimulate economy. The cost of repairs in the island according to an article on CNN were a staggering "45 to 95 billion dollars.
